

MODERN SLAVERY ACT 2015 TRANSPARENCY STATEMENT

1. INTRODUCTION

This statement is made pursuant to the Modern Slavery Act 2015 ("MSA") for the financial year ending 31 December 2017 by Greiner Holding AG ("GHO") on behalf of the companies within its Greiner Group which are required to publish an annual statement.

GHO is committed to ensuring that the business and supply chains of the Greiner Group companies (the "Greiner Group") are free from slavery and human trafficking.

To date, the Greiner Group has established the Greiner Group-wide Greiner Compliance Management system, as certified by Austrian standards for certain Austrian based entities, which assists in ensuring that our colleagues, business partners and customers comply with the Greiner Group Code of Conduct (the "Code"). Greiner Packaging International GmbH, one of the Greiner Group's subsidiaries and a predominant manufacturer of plastic packaging, has also engaged Ecovadis, a third party Corporate Social Responsibility analyst and software platform provider, to produce rules, documentation and procedures relevant to us to ensure sustainable and responsible procurement.

Section 54 of the MSA places a legal requirement on large businesses such as some entities within the Greiner Group to publish an annual statement of the steps that the organisation has taken during the previous financial year to ensure that modern slavery (including human trafficking) is not taking place in the business or supply chain of the Greiner Group.

GHO and its four divisional holding companies, namely, Greiner Packaging International GmbH ("GPI"), Greiner Bio-One International GmbH ("GBO"), Greiner Foam International GmbH ("GFI") and Greiner Extrusion Group GmbH ("GEG") and some subsidiaries of these holding companies are required to produce an annual statement..

2. ORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE AND SUPPLY CHAINS

2.1. Our organisation

The Greiner Group is a manufacturer and supplier of a range of plastic and foam products in the biomedical, life sciences, sports, aviation and consumer goods sectors.

GHO is the parent company of the Greiner Group. The Greiner Group has over 10,000 employees worldwide and operates across 33 countries.

The Greiner Group has an annual worldwide turnover of over €1.5 billion.

Our business is organised into four divisional holding companies:

- GPI, one of the predominant manufacturers of plastic packaging in both the food and non-foods sectors;
- GBO, a global player in the field of medical technology and life science, a leading producer of laboratory products;
- GFI, one of the world's leading manufacturers of specialist foams; and
- GEG, the world's leading supplier of extrusion lines, tooling and complete systems for profile extrusion.

2.2. Our supply chains

The Greiner Group operates more than 130 sites (including manufacturing sites) across 33 countries, some of which are considered to present a high-risk in terms of the likelihood of engaging workers in modern slavery. We procure goods, components, raw materials and services from a large number of suppliers based in a variety of countries, some of which operate in high-risk countries, as follows: India,

China, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Russia, Indonesia, Egypt, Myanmar, Iran, Turkey and Thailand. We also have agents, distributors and joint ventures, some of which operate in these high-risk countries.

Many of the relationships we have with suppliers are direct and the nature of the goods and/or services they supply are critical to our commercial operations. To mitigate the potential effects of a business critical supplier being found to engage in modern slavery, we use multiple suppliers for key raw materials, so that we can terminate our arrangements with any suppliers who are found to be carrying out such activities.

We outsource some of our IT, logistics, engineering, facility management and staff leasing services and subcontract some of our support and maintenance services in respect of certain products to a number of providers in various countries. These countries are considered to be relatively low-risk in terms of the likelihood of engaging workers in modern slavery.

3. OUR POLICIES

As part of the Greiner Group's commitment to ensuring that our business and supply chain are slavery-free, we have implemented the Code. Everyone who works for the Greiner Group is obliged to sign a declaration that they will comply with the Code. Our first-tier suppliers are required to:

- accept contractual obligations to comply with our Code or to adhere to their own code of conduct, which must hold them to the same principles as covered by the Code; and
- oblige suppliers who supply them with goods and/or services to also be bound by the same code of conduct or equivalent set of principles.

The senior manager with overall responsibility for the Code is the Greiner Group Compliance Officer of GHO.

Implementation and management and day-to-day operation of the policies related to the Code are carried out by the Compliance Manager of each Greiner Group company and the Division Compliance Officers and the Greiner Group Compliance Officer of GHO.

The Greiner Group strives to embed respect for human rights, taking a zero tolerance approach to slavery, by requiring all workers to sign the Code. Certain colleagues are also required to undertake training and successfully complete a test on the principles of the Code (see paragraph 4 for further details).

We also have a whistleblowing system, tell-greiner.com, accessible via the internet, which enables our employees, business partners and customers to report incidents of discrimination and/or human rights violations. Click here to access the whistleblowing portal.

4. TRAINING

Our colleagues working in responsible management positions and/or dealing with customers, suppliers, competitors or authorities, in particular, CEOs and colleagues in sales and procurement, are deemed responsible for compliance with the Code and must undertake mandatory training on its principles. Such colleagues are also required to undertake a test after the training, achieving a score of 80% or higher. Where this score is not attained, the relevant colleagues are required to re-sit the test until the requisite score is achieved.

Our training is reviewed at least biannually by our Compliance Board.

5. RISK MONITORING AND COMPLIANCE

As part of our initiative to identify and address risks of slavery in our supply chain some or all of our Greiner Group entities:

- Operate the Greiner Compliance Management system, as certified by Austrian standards according to ISO 19600 and ONR 192050 (Fair Business Compliance Certificate), which assists us in ensuring that our colleagues, business partners and customers comply with the Code;
- Have membership with a collaborative platform (currently Ecovadis) providing sustainability ratings for global supply chains. The objective of the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) rating methodology is to assess the quality of the CSR management systems. The assessment of the CSR practices is performed by sustainable development experts of this platform provider. The goal of the analysis is to assess the elements of the CSR management system. Scorecards are used to rate and monitor the environmental, ethical, and social practices of the members;
- Carry out audits on first-tier and second-tier suppliers, as appropriate. Audit trails allow for the relevant Greiner Group entity to identify which suppliers have been audited and whether it was pre-arranged or unannounced;
- Periodically review our supplier relationships, usually between every 3 to 5 years depending on the nature of the arrangement and/or supplier;
- Engage independent experts to carry out investigations on our suppliers, where appropriate. Suppliers in China are regularly inspected by a public labour authority;
- Undertake documented risk identification, management and reporting processes;
- Monitor and evaluate risks on an ongoing basis, assessing their probability of occurrence and likely level of impact, which will determine the nature of action taken;
- Carry out risk impact assessments, which are documented in reports and reviewed periodically, usually annually, by the relevant Greiner Group entity, to then update relevant risk management processes;
- Our business partners, including agents, consultants and sponsored persons, are bound by additional contractual obligations which require them to maintain full written records of their business activities, which must be provided to the relevant holding company or subsidiary of the Greiner Group on demand, in addition to supporting the relevant Greiner Group entity with any questions and/or demands it may have;
- Reserve the right to terminate all agreements with a supplier with immediate effect where that supplier is found to be in breach of its duties to comply with all applicable laws, including those which prohibit slavery and forced labour;
- Only engage workers from reputable employment agencies and always obtain relevant certification before accepting a worker;
- Require suppliers and business partners to work to minimum labour standards by expecting them to pursue fair remuneration policies and in the absence of legal and/or collective bargaining regulations, pay wages based on industry-specific remuneration and benefits which are typical for the relevant industries and locations in which the relevant parties operate;
- Require suppliers and business partners to ensure that appropriate standards of living are provided for their employees and families; and
- Encourage openness and support anyone who raises genuine concern in good faith under our tell-greiner.com whistleblowing system. We are committed to ensuring that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting in good faith their suspicion that slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of our own business or in any of our supply chains.

6. NEXT STEPS

Following a review of the effectiveness of the steps we have taken to date to ensure that there is no slavery or human trafficking in our business or supply chains, we intend to take the following further steps to combat slavery and human trafficking:

- Implement a code of conduct for suppliers and business partners within the next financial year;
- Introduce the publication of reports, detailing supply chain evaluation from a sustainability and social responsibility perspective (collection and analysis of key statistics has already been undertaken for a sustainability report that will be published within the next financial year); and
- Engage a third party corporate social responsibility analyst and software platform provider to develop rules, documents and procedures relating to the sustainable procurement summary to ensure sustainable and responsible procurement.
